PRINCE MEETS SISTER

It was learned that Prince Carol saw his sister, Queen Marie of Jugo Slavia, on her recent visit to France. It is recalled that Queen Marie, only a few days ago, accompanied her mother on the latter's special train from Bucharest to Faris. It is now reported that in the course of this trip the younger Queen persuaded her mother to seek Prince Carol while in Paris.

The Rumanian Queen, who has now been in Paris three days, most of which have been taken up in shopping expeditions, was exceedingly active again today. She went on two shopping tours, acted as hostess at an informal luncheon at her hotel, found time to attend both the movies and a theater, and, in addition, received several friends who called to pay their respects.

There are two finer hotels, for people who insist on having all the comforts they never get at home when they travel. The Pinix has baths in most of its rooms and the San Francis has a real air of magnificence and grandeur. But in all these buildings they "waste" an amount of space on light and air which would fairly break the heart of any American rental agent or emciency expert. Concerning the general decrease in child labor during recent years, Mr. Cheney pointed out that in Mississippi, where 53 per cent of the children from 10 to 15 years of age were employed in 1910, only 25 per cent were employed in 1920. All other States showed a smaller proportion of children employed in 1920 than in 1910, he said. The only exception, he added, is in the District of Columbia, which is under the control of Congress.

PROSPECTIVE SURPLUS

TARGET OF DEMOCRATS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7. (Exclusive) Insistence upon an immediate further tax reduction will be one of the schief features of the Democratic program in the coming session of Congress. Senator Robinson, Democrat, Arkansas, minority leader, announced today.

"There is no occasion for waiting on tax reduction if there is to be a large surplus, as they say there will be," said Senator Robinson. "There is nothing to indicate any slump in the revenue. I regard the raising of unnecessary taxes and the maintenance of a big surplus as one of the worst forms of oppression."

Senator Robinson predicted Democratic control of the next Senate.

"It seems certain from the information which has reached me that the Democrats will carry Maryland, Arizona, Kentucky, Missouri, Nevada and Okishoma," said Senator Robinson.

"The chances are more than even that we will carry Ohio and Massachusetts, and they appear to me even better as to Oregon, New York and Indiana.

Perhaps Mr. Miller Huggins, the Yankees' secret manager, had something to do with the turning of the ball game. He made his maiden appearance of the series in the ninth when he came out to jaw at Mr. Will Dineen, the umpire, about a strike that Dinean had called on Lazerri. Lazerri then bunted safely and Lou Gehrig went to third, scoring on a Tenas Leaguer by Ben Paschal, a pinch hitter. That tied the ball game.

The Yankees out-stubborned the Cardinals after Mr. Huggins came out of the dugout blinking his eyes in the light and wagging his jaw at Mr. Dineen. There may be something in this idee that Mr. Huggins contributes something to his ball club's work every now and again.

OBSERVATIONS

A GOOD deal of the future of the Trojan football team depends on the outcome of Saturday's game with Washington State. About the only real worry Mr. Jones has is overconfidence. He has fine is overcoufidence. He has fine material and they are playing the best football any U.S.C. team ever played and he has so many players that there's practically no possibility of their going stale, but there's nothing to keep them from getting the swelled head. If they beat Washington State by a big score tomorrow it will be a tough job to keep the boys from feeling that they're the greatest team on earth. Nothing in the world would please Mr. Jones more than to have the Cougars scare the liver and the lights out of his team so as to put them in the proper frame of mind for their encounters with California and Stanford on successive Saturdays later in the month.

Benny Friedman may be a great quarterback and all that, but he can't get away with reredit that belongs elsewhere. Arthur Mosse drops us a line from the wilds of Van Nuys to give us the inside dope on the delayed-pass plays which Friedman says Coach Yost Invented, but which, according to our correspondent, were first used by George Woodruff, now Attorney-General of Pennsylvania, about 1803, being used as a fake with his guards-back formation. Mosses has a picture of the play being used in the 1897 Kansas-Iowa game. material and they are playing

To quote Mr. Mosse: "I also used this play against Penn State in 1904, scoring after three minimes of play from the 70-yard line. In the same game, Pittsburgh vs. Penn State, I used the run-from-punt formation, so far as I know this being the first time it was ever used. I know I used it for a 90-yard run against Nebraska in 1906 and they had never heard of it or seen it before. I used the delayed-pass play by lining up the quarter behind the right guard with the right half further back and behind right tackis. The ball went to the quarter, who passed it to the right half for a buck between guard and tackis." Quite aside from Mr. Mosse's comments, it is very interesting to note the hoary antiquity of nearly all the plays used in football. We remember very distinctly talking with Tad Wieman one fall just before his return to Michigan, where he assists Bro. Yost, and asking him about the system. He said that they just lined the boys up and after they had pretty well made up their minds as to the personnel of the team, they dug up the old card index and selected a few of the plays best adapted to the material and gave them to the team. According to Tad, Michigan hadn't had a new play in fifteen years and didn't need any.

Pennock yielded only saven hits, four more than he did in his first game, and two less than Sherdel, but the Cardinals bumched four of their blows to produce their runs. A double by Bottomley that hounced off Koenig's glove in the fourth, followed by Lester Bell's single to center, scored one tally, while a double by Bell and a single by O'Farrell that caremed off Koenig's foot in the seventh, accounted for the other.

After the seventh, Pennock settled down and was never in danger. He walked Holm in the eighth but a double-play started by Laszeri checked the Cards, who went out in order in the tenth after Thevenew had singled with one out.

While the Yank southpaw had erratic support a several stages of the game, particularly from Koenig, he also was aided by several fine plays. Combs robbed Hornsby of a triple in the sixth with a fine running catch and Ruth, after previously falling in an attempt to bag Bottomley's two-bagger from his shot strings, came back to grab Haley's foul in the fourth with a marvelous one-hand catch up against the wire screen in front of the left-field boss.

FORM OF CHRYSLER BEAUTY

The design of the Chrysler "70" is just as delight fully distinctive today as when it was originated three years ago.

Innumerable attempts to adopt its exquisite symmetry have only served to emphasize its original distinction and individuality.

Still uniquely beautiful, the Chrysler "70" design is being perpetuated (as the truly beautiful deserves to be) in the Chrysler "60" and the Chrysler "50."

So there is no tinge of regret—as would be the case were this beauty to be swept aside—in telling you to prepare for a fresh Chrysler announcement. The new Chrysler "70" will be shown for the first time on October 9.

With the background of what Chrysler has done, we promise you that it will leave today's trend as far behind as the original Chrysler advanced beyond the styles of three years ago.

You may not understand now how Chrysler can repeat that first achievement—but you will understand with delight when you see the new "70".

Dr. Donald B. Armstrong described the health demonstration in Framingham, Mass., by which the death rate was reduced from 121 per 100, 000 to forty in seven years.

Delegates were told by Prof. Friedrich Von Muller, University of Munich, of the co-operation of art and science in the evolution of an ewe method to aid physicians in discovering tuberculosis in the early stages. He said that in developing this he was assisted by Adolf Busch, celebrated German violinist, through whose nicely attuned ear the various chest sounds were charted for interpretation with greater accuracy than hitherto possible, and who has fixed the bass note characteristic of the healthy lung. This was found to average 108 vibrations a second. Other vibrations ordinarily heard by physicians through stethoscopes and then evaluated to the best of their ability, also were fixed.

THE SMOOTHEST CHEVROLET in HISTORY

A Joy to Drive

The famous Chevrolet valve-in-head motor—a motor so velvety smooth as to be almost sensational in its performance provides abundant power for all motoring needs.

The extra long semi-elliptic springs add surprising comfort and stability. The braced channel steel frame is stronger and more rigid. The certainty of the oversize brakes, the ease and feeling of safety in handling the semi-reversible steering gear together with the remarkable fleetness of the Chevrolet are the fundamental reasons for the predominant preference shown by the public for this fastest-selling gear-shift car.

MUCH LATITUDE

San Diego has grown in 6 years

-in business expansion and in tourist appeal-

R 8, 1926_

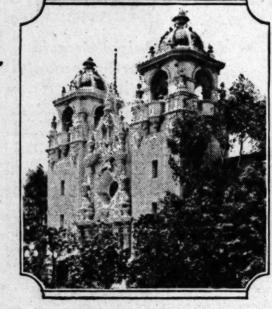

RISING from the harbor wharves, with an ever-broadening sky line, are the tall business buildings of downtown San Diego. A few blocks away you are in the heart of the shopping district. Behind all, overlookthe city, are the commanding mesas and hill slopes on which are the flower-garlanded homes of the residential district, approached through shady drives and fine boulevards.

Here, between the fringe of the ocean surf and the sentinel peaks of the Coast Range, lies San Diego, Gem of California— birthplace of the Golden West.

San Diego enjoys a generous share of California's best in climate and scenic beauty. Her citizens, with legitimate pride, keenly appreciate their fortunate location, which makes winter months warm and sunny, and summer days always cool and comfortable. San Diego, too, is proud of her background of sport and recreation-of Coronado of La Jolla, and of the pleasant social atmosphere of a Naval Base city.

And, while San Diego has been quietly building her tourist and social background, there has been a solid, continuous expansion of her city limits and interests-of her shipping facilities and her business opportunities so much so that today San Diego ranks as a safe investment in future prosperity as well as in ideal living conditions.

San Diego has always been known, as far as the Atlantic seaboard, as "a wonderful place to live in." That she is fast becoming a metropolitan centre of unusual possibilities is proven by the following facts.

In six years (from 1920 to 1926) population bas increased from 85,000 to 140,000; building permits bave soared from 31/2 millions to just over 18 millions; bank deposits from 29 millions to 74 millions; assessed property valuations bave gone from 88 millions to 150 millions. In 1920 there were but 4 main line steamship companies serving San Diego-today there are 21. Gas and electric meters are up 100%—so the story goes!

In just over six years San Diego has made such progress that she can now invite comparison with any city of equal size, and show to advantage.

Yes, you would enjoy living in San Diego, as we do! There is so much to see and do every day in the year. There is the 1,400-acre Balboa Park, a veritable fairyland of tropical verdure, where daily concerts are given on the $100,000 Outdoor Pipe Organ. There is beautiful Mission Valley, and the first of the California Missions. Here, too, is the world-famous silver strand at Coronado, with an hotel known as a prominent social center from Mexico to Canada. There is La Jolla-jewel of all seaside retreats. There is Point Loma, a scenic promontory overlooking ten thousand square miles of such mountain, shore line and valley splendor as defies description.

On North Island, San Diego, the United States Government has established the 11th Naval District, a 25 million dollar base comprising naval, military and air force stations.

Life in San Diego is full of color, of elusive charm and of a very potent feeling of exhilara-tion, mental and physical. Wouldn't a home in such an environment appeal to you? Wouldn't life amidst less crowded conditions interest you? To drive your automobile and to be safe from traffic congestion—isn't this something worth while? Men of wealth live here side by side with those of moderate means, united by a common love of beauty and of ideal living conditions.

Come, then, and visit us in San Diego!-just an afternoon trip from Los Angeles! Look over our city, our parks, our homes, our many business opportunities! Come by train, by steamer, by stage, or drive your own car!

San Diego is the terminal of four National Highways and two transcontinental railwaysthe San Diego and Arizona Ry., (Southern Pacific Lines) and the Santa Fe. It is also a regular port of call of the L. A. Steamship Co., the Pacific Lines of the L. A. Steamship Co., the Pacific Santa Fe. cific Steamship Co. and the Panama Pacific Line.

IX-The Distinction Between Stocks and Bonds

IX—The Distinction Between Stocks and Bonds

Before an individual can choose credit obligation, and the bondholdlogically and profitably from the thousands of available investment securities, it is obvious that he must understand clearly the radical differsince between the two common types of securities—stocks and bonds. That the distinction between these types is not always clear in the minds of investors is evident from the fact that bankers and investment dealers are frequently confronted with a request for a "stock-bond," a "stock that represents an absolutely safe speculation," or other securities equally fantastic.

A share of stock is a certificate that represents a proportionate ownership in a business. The stockholders are the owners of a corporate husiness.
Their income, as part owners of the business is limited to a share of the profits of a company, if a profit exists after payment of all due obligations.
When a person buys stock he is supposed to assume consciously all the risks of stock ownership. In the event of failure he must be astisfied with whatever is left after all the bondholders and other creditors have been paid.

A bond, on the other hand, is a

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Oct. 7. (P)—Selected buying of high-grade issues, promoted by the outlook for easier money and credit, imparted a firm tone to the bond market today, although the forward movement did not assume broad proportions. Foreign and United States government obligations gave the best domonstrations of group strength.

Loan discussions played an important part in the movement of foreign bonds. Belgian issues were aided by reports that a currency stabilization program would soon be put under way and Japaness bonds were strengthened by the successful sale of a Tokio loan, and prospects of additional municipal financing in New York. French and German obligations are countered greater resistance, but managed to maintain a fairly steady tone.

Higher prices for Liberty bonds reflected the freer money situation, as swideneed later in the day by the retention of the 4 per cent Prices movements among ralls and industrials were irregular, with

Hood Ofice, 42 Broadway, New York MEMBERS NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE 636 SOUTH SPRING STREET Long Beach San Diego

To Our Customers:

For the past seven weeks, we have consistently advocated the purchase of JULIAN PETROLEUM PREFERRED. This stand was taken by us in the face of the 17 years record of never having recommended a security to our clients.

Our reasons for this stand and advice on Julian Preferred are outlined as follows:

1: Because of the information from Engineers and Bankers in our possession we were convinced that the PREFERRED and COMMON was worth far beyond the market price at which they were selling. Logically following this is the conclusion that the stocks should sell at a market price in proportion to the in-

2: Our clients believed in the stock and believed in us and bought heavily of this stock upon our advice and in such a diversified amount that we felt assured that the stock would gradually go into stronger hands and be held for the consolidation.

3: We had information that led us to the conclusion that the appraised values of the holdings of the JULIAN PETRO-LEUM CORPORATION, which would be the basis for the con-solidation with the California Eastern would be far beyond the pectation with the California Eastern would be far beyond the pectation of the most sanguine investor in Julian stock, and erefore, the price to be paid by this Syndicate and the California Eastern for Julian, would be far beyond the highest market lice JULIAN PREFERRED has reached within the past three

4: We had placed at our disposal by S. C. Lewis, representing the Syndicate, $3,000,000 in cash, with instructions to purchase Julian Stock on the way up until it reached the price of $35.00 per share or more, and this, together with the strong purchasing power of our own customers, naturally led us to the conclusion that a higher market price would be reached and that the stock would become stabilized at such prices, by the time the offer was made by the Syndicate on behalf of the California Eastern Oil Company and by the California Eastern Oil Company.

The movement was steady and healthy until the past three when an unexpected, concentrated "bear drive" was diad against the stock. This drive, together with unfounded tors, precipitated selling by the public jointly with the bear ment, resulting in the decline.

We shall extend every possible facility and service to our clients and stand ready and willing to render all services possible. We recommend that you hold your stock as we are convinced that the market will take its rightful position, notwithstanding these reverses and particularly is this made certain by the entry into the market yesterday afternoon, by the Syndicate representing the California Eastern Oil Company for the purpose of accumulating all possible Julian stock at the present market price at this time.

It is our information that it will be approximately 30 days before the final appraisals and auditing reports have been concluded of the various properties to be consolidated into the California Eastern and, therefore, it will be this period of time before the general offer is made to the Julian Stockholders.

We make this statement in order that our position may be clearly defined in connection with the market situation.

The spectacle of Hollywood Bowl, no longer novel to the residents of Los Angeles, brought forth gasps of astonishment from bankers and bankers wives, were they from New, York City or Kokomo.

AUTO PROCESSION

The afternoon began with a procession of 1000 automobiles and buses from the entrance of the Biltmore. Most of the visitors rode in the machines of local bankers as their guests. The visitors were taken through the studios, where it had been arranged that they were to see stars at work on the sets.

The program at the Bowl began at 4.30 pm, with the barbecus. This was typically Mexican, red beans and all, and a Mexican orchestra furnished the music. The throng was served with dispatch and Tom Mix's cowboys gave equestrian stunts during the eating. Harold Roberta's Golden State Band, tricked odit in Mexican fashion, gave a concert, whereupon G. G. Greenwood, chairman of the day's entertainment, introduced Fred Niblo, the director, who acted as chairman.

Miss Joyzelle and Lolita Ruis danced and Chiquita sang. THE HEROIN MENACE

THE HEROIN MENACE

Heroin, a laboratory product concocted by a Berlin chemist, is more terrible in peace than were all the poison gases in war. It claimed more victims in this country alone last year than did all the poison gases that floated over Northern France from the spring of 1915 to the armistice.

Heroin is a chemical drug with morphine gases that floated over Northern France from the spring of 1915 to the armistice. Heroin is a chemical drug with morphine for its base; but it can also be manufactured from ceal-far products. Its addicts are now numbered by the hundreds of thousands, passing beyond the million mark in this country alone; and the numbers here are not proportionately greater than in London and some of the cities of Western Europe.

Fred A. Wellis, Commissioner of Correction in New York City, reported to the Philadelphia World Conference on Narcotic Education recently that a survey made in New York alone disclosed that 60 per cent of the inmates of all correctional institutions in that city were addicts or narcotic cases, most of them heroin addicts. There are about 200,000 of them.

When ohe considers that the use of heroin as a dope only began in this country in 1910, its terrible strides are apparent. As a menace to the health of the nation it raphs with the more apparent.

try in 1910, its terrible strides are apparent. As a menace to the health of the nation it ranks with the most prevalent maladies. Dr. O'Connor, senior medical officer of the municipality of New York, reports that heroin is three or four times as powerful in its habit-forming effect as morphine. It is manufactured by treating morphine with acetic acid.

The effect of its use is the expansion of the ego, with a corresponding paralysis of the moral functions. Its victims delight while under its influence in heroics and thus become fit instruments for organized banditry. Its most common form is a white powder, although it is also made in liquid form for hypodermic injection. The addict seems inhued with a mania to get others to join him in the use of the drug; otlers to join him in the use of the drug; hence the "show" gangs, to whom are traced so many of the crimes of violence committed in American cities. The increase of crimes of this nature follows closely the increase in the number of heroin addicts.

According to the reports of the narcotic division of the Treasury Department there were about 1000 known offenses against the narcotic law in 1915; in 1919 there were more than 2000 offenses; in 1921 the number had increased to 4000; and in 1925 there were more than 10,000. Similar increases are reported from London, Paris, Berlin and other European cities.

No wonder JELL-O has a larger sale than all other gelatin desserts combined

ELL-O-"America's Most Famous Dessert"! Steadily growing in favor through almost thirty years. Finding its way into more and more homes. Delighting more and more families with its unsurpassed fruit flavor, its brilliant sparkle and color. Until, today, the women of America buy more Jell-O than all other gela-tin desserts combined.

And Jell-Onever dissappoints them! It is always in perfect condition when it comes to the housewife. No "caking". No loss of flavor. No change of any kind, from the moment it is packed into its wrappings. The Jell-O package is skillfully de-signed. It keeps out moisture—it keeps in flavor. And the little boxes move so rapidly from gro-cer's abelves to women's market baskets that Jell-O simply cannot be old when it reaches you!

Jell-O, as it comes from the package, is a pow-der—made from finest gelatin, snowy in cane sugar, and pure fruit flavors. Dissolve it in boiling water, instantly, with no trouble. Set it away for a short time in a cool place. Then serve it—a clear, spark-ling, shimmering jelly dessert—tender, yet firm— utterly delicious!

So healthful, too! Nutrition experts tell us that Jell-O requires very little digestive effort. And yet it supplies valuable energizing and body build-ing nourishment: These facts make it an ideal dessert for children as well as adults—a food which should be served frequently.

The simplest way to serve Jell-O has already been described. But there are other ways almost without number. Jell-O may be "whipped" to fluffy lightness. It may be combined with fruits either fresh or canned; with berries, nuts, milk, whipped-cream or sauces. And Jell-O's usefulness doesn't end with desserts! You can use it, also, in wonderful salads - in meat and fish dishes - in cake and pie fillings. However you use it, you'll find it so tempting, so economical, and so easy to prepare!
